TOKYO (AP)—Democratized Japanese women broke the 1,300-year-old ban against their sex on sacred old Omine Mountain and scaled the peak Sunday. To Buddhist priests, this desecrated holy ground.

2,000 Men Still Work In Spite Of Steel Strike

HAMILTON (CP)—The Steel Company of Canada today announced more than 2,000 of its working force of 4,800 men were at work in its plants where the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) called a strike to start at 7 a.m.

This announcement came shortly after a company official said a plane service had been established into the plant, using a landing strip on company property. The company spokesman declined to elaborate, but a union official said: "There is a Tiger Moth hovering over the property, but they won't take out many ingots with that."

Picketing of the vast Stelco Works began at noon Sunday. The pickets remained on duty during 84-degree heat in the afternoon, an evening rain and through the chilly dawn. They were still at their posts when the 7 a.m. deadline passed for the general strike here.

Production came to a halt at the Algoma Steel Corporation plant at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation plant at Sydney, N.S.

NO OFFICE WORK

The Hamilton pickets turned back office workers and company executives and H. G. Hill, Stelco president, said in a statement: "The staff of our general office was illegally stopped from entering the premises this morning by union pickets. In order to avoid possible injury to our staff, we have told them to remain at home pending the re-establishment of law and order."

Union spokesman said it might be possible to admit office workers to the plant later if a system of issuing identification cards to bona fide office employees was set up.

The company's production statement was in the form of a telegram from Mr. Hill to F. B. Kilbourn of Montreal, named last Wednesday as federal controller of the three basic steel companies in an effort to prevent the walkout.

New O.P.A. Bill Faces Truman Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman has served notice on Congress that he dislikes pending Office of Price Administration legislation about as much as, or possibly even more than, the price control bill he vetoed two weeks ago.

Mr. Truman asserted specifically the measure, as passed by the Senate Thursday, "is in terrible shape" and "couldn't be any worse."

This was taken generally as a hint he may veto the new bill, unless basic changes are made in it. It came in an informal opinion expressed to Senators Tom Connally (Dem., Tex.) and Arthur Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.). The President met them following their return from the Foreign Ministers' meeting in Paris.

Meanwhile, the congressional battle over the now-dead agency hit a new peak of confusion, with little clear indication of what action will be taken.

Leaders of assorted blocs on Capitol Hill voiced widely-varying ideas of what will happen next.

Most of them agreed, however, they will have to make some fundamental changes in the Senate-approved measure or it will run into the Presidential veto.

In this connection, Senator Glen Taylor (Dem., Idaho), in a statement urged Mr. Truman veto the bill, unless it is modified.

Safecrackers Fail

Safecrackers, believed to have been disturbed while at work, failed to break open a strong box in the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway station, at Shawnigan Lake last week.

B.C. police said one charge of nitroglycerin exploded in the safe door failed to open it, and that they believed no further attempt was made because of fear that the first explosion was heard.

Three months ago the same office of the station was broken into but as in this case nothing was stolen.

President Signs British Loan Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman today signed the $3,750,000,000 British loan agreement, terming it a major step to carry out a program "for reviving and expanding international trade."

Fail To Tender

British Columbia construction firms, apparently hearing a saturation point on the number of contracts they can handle, submitted no tenders today to the provincial government for a road surfacing job in the vicinity of Squamish.

Works Minister E. C. Carson said the government would probably wait a few months and then call tenders again.

Japs' Trial Delayed

TOKYO (AP)—Further delay hit the trial of Japan's wartime leaders today as the International Military Tribunal announced it would recess until the courtroom's new air conditioning system is ready for full operation. Sir William Webb, tribunal chief justice, indicated the trial might be resumed Wednesday.

NUERNBERG (AP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Nazi Germany's financial wizard, today was pictured by Dr. Rudolf Dix before the International Military Tribunal, as a man who "trode the path of conspiracy" against Hitler and now finds himself in the same prisoners' box with the Gestapo chief who arrested him. Victoria Business Up 20% As Population Tops 90,000

Increased population and upswing in the building trades are mainly responsible for a 20 per cent increase in business in Victoria this year, as compared with last year, according to business reports.

Vancouver Sun's 1946 directory lists the Greater Victoria population as 91,000 against 82,390 last year.

"Business will continue to go up for at least another five years; it can't do anything else, Victoria is growing," a spokesman for businessmen said. He expressed the belief that more retirements would take place from the government and railway services throughout Canada in the next three years than in any like period before. "And on authoritative information we know one-third of those people want to come to Victoria and island centres," he said.

One up-island banker had $30,000 in cash dumped on his counter by a former prairie farmer who wished to open an account.

"People are coming here with money; they are selling farms and businesses on the prairies at high prices and are buying real estate, paying spot cash for acreage and homes here. Two families are moving in for every one moving out."

One banker said saving savings accounts were up 50 per cent over last year and the number of individual accounts increased by thousands. Credit sales are up approximately 15 per cent and total sales up about 12 per cent over last year.

Indicating business trends locally is the fact that bank debits for April, 1946, were $61,000,000 while for 1945 they were $45,000,000 and for 1944, $38,000,000.

Sloan Resigns As Investigator In Mines Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of the B.C. Supreme Court has resigned as special disputes investigator in the 13-day old strike of 2,500 British Columbia hardrock miners. It was learned today.

The Chief Justice in a letter to Federal Labor Minister Mitchell said he could not see his way clear to carry on negotiations with 16 separate companies with the end purpose of establishing 16 different and differing contracts.

Copies of the letter were sent to C. H. Locke, spokesman for the operators, and Harvey Murphy, western regional director of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (C.I.O.).

Seattle Fishboat Missing 10 Days

B.C. Police are co-operating with U.S. authorities in searching for a Seattle fishing boat which has not been heard from for 10 days.

Number of men aboard the boat was not given but it was skippered by Alfred Haviland of Seattle.

The boat, a Shark-type seine vessel, is white and is named the Johanna W.56.

She left Seattle on July 1 and was due back last week. She last was heard from off Destruction Island in the Cape Cook area on the northern west coast of Vancouver Island on July 5.

Russia Planning 3rd World War Gouzenko Says

OTTAWA (CP)—The fourth and final report of the Royal Commission on Espionage charges that "there exists in Canada a fifth column organized and directed by Russian agents in Canada and in Russia" and that in it "there are several spy rings."

The 733-page 250,000-word document, tabled in the Commons this afternoon by Prime Minister King, gives nine new names to add to the 14 previously named, but states that without further documents "we cannot identify any non-Russian members" of rings other than that around which the five-months probe has revolved.

That was the military intelligence system directed by Col. Nicolai Zabotin, former military attaché recalled to Moscow some time ago for "inadmissible activities," and since reported dead.

The commission declared "it is obvious that there was intended to be a large-scale postwar expansion of the (Zabotin) network" and pointed out that "perhaps the most startling single aspect of the entire fifth column network was the uncanny success with which Soviet agents were able to find Canadians who were willing to betray their country."

FAKED PASSPORTS

In swift sequence, Supreme Court Justices Robert Tachereau and R. L. Kellock reported that:

1. There was an organization whose duty it was to procure false Canadian passports and other citizenship documents for the use of agents in Canada or elsewhere.

2. Zabotin and his assistants were helping to supervise and finance the work of an organization of agents operating in certain European countries.

3. There can "be little doubt" that the N.K.V.D., the secret Russian political police, "have a powerful organization in Canada."

4. Several parallel "undercover systems or networks" existed under direction of members of the Soviet Embassy and they "had and may still have their own undercover agents operating in Canada."

5. They include another "military" network parallel to that of Col. Zabotin and, like his, directed by Red Army intelligence headquarters.

6. There was some evidence that a naval system of intelligence was being organized.

7. A "secret political system" was under Gouzenko, who held the official position of second secretary of the Embassy. Its task was to act as the pilot for Communist activities.

SYSTEM OF CELLS

The commission named as organizers of "cells" from which agents were recruited or media for the communication of information:

Agatha Chapman, 29, Bank of Canada employee in Ottawa.

Freda Linton, former secretary at the National Film Board, who has vanished.

Samuel Sol Burman, Montreal insurance agent.

Henry Harris, Toronto optometrist.

It named as active in procuring a false Canadian passport:

Henry Harris.

Dr. John Soboleff, Toronto doctor.

W. M. Pappin, Ottawa, passport office clerk.

It named as "not active in subversive activities but would have done so if required":

A. Norman Veal, Montreal R.A.F. officer.

Fred Chubb, Montreal chemist.

Jack Isidor Gotthell, Montreal, Canadian army captain.

But there was no indication in the report if and when any of the nine would be detained. R.C.M.P. officials said that so far no instructions had been received from the commission to make any further detentions.

SAM CARR NAMED

The report again named Sam Carr, deposed national organizer of the Labor-Progressive Party in Canada, as a recruiting agent and one who obtained and transmitted confidential information.

It is said he and Fred Rose, Labor-Progressive Member of Parliament for Montreal-Cartier, were "the main Canadian cogs" in the Zabotin network and that "it would not be difficult to conclude that Carr was sent to this country in 1924 as a professional Soviet agent and has acted as such continuously since that time.

Rose has been sentenced to six years and his appeal will be heard in the fall. Carr, like Freda Linton, has vanished.

DISSOLUTION "FARCE"

The commission quoted Igor Gouzenko—Zabotin's cipher clerk and the man who remains the very crux of the whole investigation—as saying Russia was preparing for a third world war and that Moscow's disbanding of the Comintern was "probably the greatest farce of the Communists in recent years."

He maintained it "continues its work" of directing international communism.

It was Gouzenko who fled the Embassy last September with the documents that provide the basis for the probe and the prosecution that have stemmed from it.

Today's massive document for the first time presented the rounded and complete picture as far as the commission was able to develop it.

To Spend $1,400,000 Next Winter To Raise Campbell Lake Level

The B.C. Power Commission next winter will call tenders for construction of a dam at Ladore Falls to raise the level of Lower Campbell Lake by 58 feet, S. R. Weston, chairman of the commission, said today.

Clearing of the land which will be flooded by raising the lake level, buying out of property which will be inundated and construction of the dam will cost an estimated $1,400,000. Included in the property which the new lake will inundate will be Forbes Landing, long a favorite haunt of Vancouver Island fishermen and tourists.

This project will represent the second phase of the commission's plan to fully harness Campbell River to provide hydro-electric power for all Vancouver Island south of Campbell River.

PROVIDING 50,000 HORSEPOWER

Purpose of the Ladore Falls Dam will be to assure adequate water for the 50,000-horsepower now being developed. The new dam will also provide sufficient water for a second 50,000-horsepower hydro-electric installation.

Final phase of the commission's Campbell River Development, the first major undertaking of power development by the board formed in April, 1945, will be the construction of a third dam at the foot of Upper Campbell Lake and a fourth dam to raise the level of Buttle Lake. These dams will provide storage of water adequate to develop a third 50,000-horsepower. It may be some time before the final dams are constructed.

Today concrete on the head dam, a 85-foot-high structure which will create a 900-acre lake above Moose Falls, is being poured, while excavation is proceeding on the pipeline route and the powerhouse site. Barring strikes and other possible difficulties, water will be shot into the first 25,000-horsepower turbine unit next April.

Thanksgiving Oct. 14

OTTAWA—It was understood here today Oct. 14 has been chosen by the cabinet as Thanksgiving Day. It will be a Monday.

These four who, with no fuel for their inboard motorboat, drifted unaided and undiscovered in the Strait of Juan de Fuca for nearly two days, are now settled back to normal after their ordeal. They are, from left to right: George Hutchinson, 23; Happy Valley; Allan Littler, 26, and Harold Phillips, 29, Victoria, and David Waddell, 14, Happy Valley. David's companions praised the boy for his behavior during the two days. "He was perfect," they said.

Dual Senator Dies After Long Service

LATE SIR THOMAS CHAPPAIS

ST. DENIS, Que. (CP)—Senator Sir Thomas Chappais, government leader in the Quebec Legislative Council, died at his home here today. He was 88.

Sir Thomas, dean of the Quebec Legislature and also a member of the Senate of Canada, fell ill several days ago at his summer home here and death came early this morning.

A former professor of history at Laval University in Quebec, he was the writer of several books on early Canada and a contributor to reviews.

Appointed March 18, 1892, to the Quebec Legislative Council—the Upper House of the Quebec Legislature, membership in which is for life—he was made a minister without portfolio in the Talbot cabinet and government leader in the Legislative Council. In 1895 he was president of the Legislative Council.

That post was not his in subsequent years while the Liberals were in power, but he was again government leader during the Duplessis administration, 1935-39, and 1944 to the present.

His membership in both the Upper Houses at Ottawa and Quebec was unprecedented in Canadian history.

A former president of the Royal Society of Canada and of the Historical Society of Canada, Sir Thomas was summoned to the Senate of Canada Dec. 31, 1919.

He received his knighthood in 1935 on the recommendation of Viscount Bennett, then Prime Minister, just before he was voted out of that office in the Liberal triumph of the 1935 election. Since then no knighthoods have been conferred.

His death raised the number of vacancies in the Senate to seven. The standing now is 65 Liberals, 24 Progressives, Conservatives.

On the seven vacant seats, six had been held by Progressive Conservatives. Two of the vacancies are in British Columbia, two in Nova Scotia, two in Ontario and one in Quebec.

Power Development Project Will Make Elk Falls More Attractive To Tourists

CAMPBELL RIVER (Special)—Elk Falls, long one of the major attractions on Vancouver Island to tourists, will be made even more attractive by the B.C. Power Commission's Campbell River Development, which will create a 900-acre lake behind an 85-foot dam over which water will plunge into the river.

The commission will provide a 26-foot concrete highway over the top of the head-dam just above Moose Falls. Where Irene Pool now is, will be a 900-acre lake.

S. R. Weston, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission, said the new highway will sweep over the dam in a fine arc. Underneath the roadway the water will plunge down 85 feet in cascades almost as high as Elk Falls.

The dam at Moose Falls will permit engineers at will to turn on and off Campbell River, one of the mightiest streams on Vancouver Island. Some of the 30,000 gallons which thunder over Elk Falls every second at high water will be diverted into six turbines. Ultimately power from these will flow into every community on Vancouver Island south of the Campbell River.

BOOM TOWN

Today Campbell River is a boom town with more than 200 men imported by the General Construction Company which is now rushing on a $1,294,043 contract which includes constructing the head-dam at Moose Falls, leveling of the pipeline right-of-way and erection of a powerhouse.

During the day and into the evening the thunder of Elk Falls is drowned by the roar of dozens of diesel engines operating a sawmill, a huge concrete mixing plant, half a dozen bulldozers, 30-ton earth-moving machines, big shovels and numerous trucks.

Concrete has already been poured on one section of the dam. Jack Boyd, owner-manager of General Construction Company, said the work during the war filled $26,000,000 worth of airport construction contracts, including the building of stations at Patricia Bay, Comox and Port Hardy, said that within a month, concrete would be poured at the rate of 40 yards an hour, 24-hours a day.

MAJOR POWER PROJECT

The Campbell River development is the first and only major project of the B.C. Power Commission to develop power. When the project is completed—only one-third of the power of Campbell River will be developed under the present contracts—it will probably be the largest one-unit power plant in British Columbia.

Power from the first turbine-generator will supply a pulp mill now being built by Bleedel Stewart and Welch Ltd. at Port Alberni, and residents of the area who were formerly served by the Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities Ltd. Ultimately Campbell River power will be connected with Victoria through the line which now feeds Jordan River power into the former Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities system—which was taken over last year by the B.C. Power Commission.

FOR HOMES AND INDUSTRIES

Full development of Campbell River providing a total of 150,000-horsepower is expected to change considerably the economic future of Vancouver Island by making cheap power available not only for more households but also for more industries.

General Construction so far has:

1. Constructed by sub-contract, a 600-foot wharf at Duncan Bay to bring in heavy machinery.
2. Erected a camp to house and feed its 200 employees working on the contract. The camp is one of the most up-to-date construction camps in B.C. with central heating, central lighting and sewage systems.
3. Started excavation for the powerhouse foundation.

4. Started pouring concrete in the head-dam.

5. Started to erect the earth embankments on either side of the dam to prevent water seepage.

6. Started to level off the pipeline right-of-way.

The contract involves:

1. Pouring 60,000 cubic yards of concrete in the dam and powerhouse.
2. Moving of 100,000 cubic yards of earth to form the embankments.
3. Excavation of 450,000 cubic yards of earth and rock for the dam, powerhouse and pipeline. (Altogether Mr. Boyd estimates he will have to move 700,000 cubic yards of earth, rock, gravel and sand.)
4. Driving 360,000 pounds of structural steel into the earth embankment to prevent seepage.
5. Insertion of 500 tons of reinforcing steel into the powerhouse.

Other contracts have provided for:

1. Clearing the 90-foot right-of-way for the 132,000-volt power line from the development here to Nanaimo. This work has been completed.
2. Clearing a similar right-of-way from Dunsuir to Alberni. This has been completed.
3. Construction of 80-foot steel pylons which will carry the power lines from Campbell River to Nanaimo and from Dunsuir to Alberni.
4. Erection of the pylons and stringing of the power line.
5. Construction of two 25,000-horsepower turbines and two generators to be turned by these turbines.

Into the Campbell River development is going a major portion of the $20,000,000 voted the B.C. Power Commission by the B.C. Legislature.

Strikes may hold up the development a little. The commission hopes to turn water into No. 1 turbine some time next April.

Sir H. F. Robinson Engineer, Artist, Here 7 Years, Dies

LT.-COL. Sir Heaton Forbes Robinson, C.M.G., M.Inst.C.E., A.C.G.I., who came to Victoria in 1939 after long service with the British Army, died Saturday in the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Born at Singapore in 1873, third son of the late Maj.-Gen. Wellesley G. Robinson, C.B., he was educated at Westward Ho in England, and took his engineering studies at the City and Guilds School of Engineering in London. He was appointed to the staff of Sir John Wolfe Barry and partners, serving with them for many years on their large engineering and bridge projects in South Africa, South America and the Near East.

He served in the First Great War, in the R.A.S.C., attaining the rank of lieutenant-colonel in 1917 as commanding No. 3 Base Supply Depot at Boulogne. His experience and knowledge of engineering proved of immense value to the army, as the colossal task of unloading, receiving and dispatching to the fronts, all the food, war stores and ammunition came under his command.

He was appointed deputy director of works of the Imperial War Graves Commission in 1920, and director of works in 1926, which position he occupied until 1938, when he retired. He was made C.M.G. in 1930; and was created a Knight Bachelor in recognition of his services in 1939.

Coming to Victoria on his retirement he purchased property on the Island Highway opposite the Colwood Golf Club, which he developed into a beautiful home and grounds.

Sir Heaton was a student and exponent of many of the arts and sciences; among which were higher mathematics and astronomy, but it was as an artist that brought him prominence here. Striking portraits from his brush of many well-known Victorians, including those of the late Sir Percy Lake and Lindley Crease, K.C.; and Dr. T. A. Rickard and Hon. E. W. Hamber, testify to his skill as a portrait painter.

Funeral services will be held in the little church he attended, St. John's at Colwood, on Wednesday at 3. Canon S. Ryall will officiate. Cremation at Royal Oak.

Some of history's earliest recorded boats—those belonging to the Phoenicians and Egyptians—were decorated with male animals despite the fact that ships are generally known as "she."

Showers this morning becoming widely scattered this afternoon, tonight and early Tuesday.

Mihailovic, 10 Of Chetnik Aides Sentenced To Death; 12 To Jail

BELGRADE (AP)—Gen. Draja Mihailovic, former Chetnik leader, and 10 of his 23 co-defendants were convicted today by a Yugoslav military court on charges of collaborating with the Germans and were sentenced to die before firing squads.

The bush-bearded defendant, the first underground leader to attract wide attention during the recent war, was given 8½ hours to appeal for leniency from the president of the Yugoslav Parliament. The deadline is 8 p.m. (noon P.D.T.).

Unconfirmed reports said the executions would be private, provided the sentences were upheld, and that the penalties would be exacted swiftly.

Mihailovic became Minister of War to former King Peter's exiled government in London. British and U.S. officers scryed at his mountain headquarters as liaison officers during the last years of the war.

Prison sentences ranging downward to 18 months were imposed on the remaining defendants.

Two of those sentenced to die were tried and convicted in absentia.

LIST OF CONDEMNED

Sentenced to be shot with Mihailovic were: Redoslav Rade Radich, 56-year-old former commander of the Bratislav Chetnik unit.

Russ Not Likely To Get Loan For Year; Austerity Eased, Not Ended, In Britain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia probably will have to wait until next year at least for a loan even a fraction of the size of the $3,750,000,000 credit Congress approved Saturday for Britain.

The Kremlin reportedly is interested in borrowing about $1,000,000,000 from this country.

Little has been heard of a Russian loan since the United States some months ago notified Moscow of a willingness to discuss it—provided Russia would agree to talk at the same time about her trade relations with the Balkans and other areas within the Soviet sphere of influence.

Any such loan would have to come through the Export-Import Bank, unlike the one to Britain which late Saturday won a 219 to 155 House vote of approval, following Senate clearance previously.

Only President Truman's signature is needed before London can start drawing on the money, in return for which Britain has promised to work for freer world trade. The loan is to be repaid by the year 2001. Some officials believe the first money will be advanced this week.

The British credit—arranged through special legislation—will come directly from the United States treasury, but any money Moscow might get would be from the Export-Import Bank—a government agency with considerably less than $1,000,000,000 left in its till.

Other countries seeking to borrow money from the United States normally would go through the Export-Import Bank, as France and Ethiopia have just done for loans of $650,000,000 and $3,000,000 respectively. The bank was set up to make foreign loans, but has not enough money left to grant any $1,000,000,000 Russian loan.

No formal administration request for additional Export-Import funds has been made, and with Congress striving hard for adjournment prospects for action this year appear remote.

Russia, however, figured prominently in the British loan debate. Proponents argued the credit would establish Britain as a bulwark against a spread of Communism.

Gratitude Shown, Not Enthusiasm
LONDON (CP)—Approval by Congress of the United States' loan to Britain was accepted in the United Kingdom with some gratitude but no real enthusiasm amid warnings that it is not going to mean much immediate improvement in the average Briton's way of life.

The seven months' delay in granting of the long-term credit since it was negotiated in Washington last December and the harsh words about this country during the measure's stormy passage through Congress caused more than a little resentment here.

"America—Don't try us too high!" was the headline on an article by Lord Vansittart, former chief diplomatic adviser in the Foreign Office, published in the Sunday Pictorial, independent. The Pictorial's front page carried a banner headline: "We Get the Loan—Official."

As in the United States, there is a considerable body of opinion in the United Kingdom which was opposed to the principle of Britain borrowing from the United States. Now that the credit is to be made available, even the greatest proponents of this emergency measure emphasize it is no cure-all for postwar problems.

"The American Congress has approved the loan," said Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a statement on behalf of the government. "This does not mean that we can now relax our efforts, but it will hasten the time when we can once more play our full part in a vigorous and expanding system of international trade."

"I take the approval of the loan as a sign that our American friends want to work with us just as we want to work with them."

The cabinet met today to consider revision of the import program in the light of the loan's approval. Before it was a list of priorities drawn up in advance by various departments.

MORE TOOLS
Meantime, there was no definite information as to just what will be bought in the United States with the extra dollars. However, it is thought likely the loan will mean:

1. More machine tools, industrial equipment and raw materials to boost British production and foster exports so the country will be firmly on its feet by the time the loan is exhausted.

2. More canned foods, meats, and fruits to put more variety in the people's diet, although it is not expected there can be any increase in various basic commodities and extra supplies are not expected before autumn.

3. Probably more gasoline for private motorists—perhaps even the end of the gasoline rationing plan.

4. Possibly more newsprint to enable Britain's newspapers—most of them now only four pages in size—to increase their size.

In summary, there may be some slackening of austerity in the United Kingdom, but certainly no end of it.

John Queen, Ex-M.L.A. Former Mayor Of Winnipeg, Dies

WINNIPEG (CP)—John Queen, 64, Lanarkshire-born immigrant boy who once was elected to the Manitoba Legislature while serving a prison term for his activities in the Winnipeg general strike of 1919, died suddenly at his home early Sunday.

A persistent advocate of Socialist doctrines since he came to Winnipeg from Scotland 40 years ago, John Queen was a militant Marxist in civic and provincial politics in Manitoba from 1916 until his defeat in the 1942 mayoralty election.

One of a group of whom labor turned after its defeat in the general strike—J. S. Woodsworth, A. A. Heaps and Fred Dixon were some of the others—he had his political ups and downs.

The soft-voiced Scot began a political career as a Winnipeg alderman, a Social Democrat, in 1916, served seven terms as mayor and 20 years as a member of the Legislature.

Since he lost to Garnet Coulter—mayor ever since—in 1942, he had been less active politically, but remained a potent voice in Winnipeg labor circles when advice was asked.

PRAIRIE CONFERENCE
When the First Great War ended, an inter-provincial western conference of labor delegates in Calgary in March, 1919, demanded immediate suspension of the government's censorship of the press and release of all political prisoners or "conscientious objectors." It voted approval of the Russian Bolshevik and German Spartacist revolutions.

On May Day 2,000 Winnipeg metal workers went on strike and 13 days later a general strike committee was formed which included John Queen. Disruption and disorder followed, police were dismissed when they refused to sign a pledge against sympathetic strikes and eventually $5,000 were on strike.

Rioting broke out June 10 and before order was restored completely on June 21, one man had been killed and 33 injured. Four days before then John Queen and four of his colleagues had been taken out of bed by police and charged with seditious conspiracy. A few days later others—including J. S. Woodsworth, later to become the C.C.F. national leader—also were arrested.

ELECTED IN JAIL
John Queen was sentenced to 12 months in jail and while he paced his cell floor at Headingly word came he had been elected Independent Labor Party member of the Legislature for Winnipeg North.

He held the seat until April, 1941, when for the first time in 20 years the list of Winnipeg members returned failed to contain his name.

Meanwhile he had become a commanding figure in civic politics as well. He was elected mayor in 1934, re-elected in 1935-1936 but defeated in 1937. In 1938 he regained the mayoralty and held it until his defeat in 1942.

In June, 1908, he married Katherine Ross of Inverness, Scotland. She died in 1933. They had five children.

Mr. Queen was known personally to many Victorians. He had visited this city several times in the last decade and a half.

News Of The Island Port Alberni Rotary Carnival Hits Legal Snag

PORT ALBERNI — Plans for the annual Rotary carnival to be held here August 8, 9 and 10 and to include midway and raffles hit a legal snag at the Port Alberni council meeting.

Although the city council granted the local Rotary Club permission to close off Argyle Street from Fourth Avenue to the lane for the carnival, the aldermen pointed out that the event must abide by the Criminal Code.

According to Sergeant Sam Service, the Rotary Club can hold a carnival but must not have a midway or hold raffles unless they can obtain special permission from the attorney general of the province.

H. C. K. Housser, on behalf of H. A. Roberts Co., requested permission to acquire an area equivalent to four city blocks between the following boundaries: Anderson Avenue, Eighth Avenue and Wallace Avenue extended.

The company stated they will put in roads, water pipeline and hydrants according to specifications.

Ladysmith Plans City Expansion

Expansion into unorganized territory in the Crescent district south of the city limits is hoped for in Ladysmith where population gain during the war amounted to 1,700. Mayor Ernest Jameson said in Victoria, while attending the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada provincial quarterly meeting.

The upland city has a payroll of $150,000 per month, with practically no unemployment, he said.

Although there is not a building lot to be had in Ladysmith, according to Mayor Jameson, efforts will be made through the Department of Municipal Affairs to obtain about 20 acres which can be divided into about 50 lots.

The city is now trying to take in a small section of land to the west, upon which a new high school could be built, since present schools are "crowded and obsolete," he added. Ladysmith's share of the planned school would be $115,000.

Building Permits Jump At Courtenay

COURTENAY — Promise of a jump in building in this upland city was noted in the number of building permits issued in June. Permits taken out represented construction totaling $31,400 as compared with $5,945 for June, 1945.

For the first six months of the year the value of permits now stands at $198,110 against $47,528 last year or more than four times as much.

Strong France Needed For Peace Churchill Says In Metz Speech

METZ, France (AP)—Winston Churchill called on Europe to "rise from her ruins and spare the world a third and possibly fatal holocaust" and declared a strong France was necessary to achieve this goal.

The former British Prime Minister, speaking Sunday at a Bastille Day celebration marking the 157th anniversary of the French Revolution, said there could be "no revival of Europe or its culture without a strong France."

Political observers were quick to note the great appeal Mr. Churchill made to France, with out directly referring to a western bloc or even a written alliance between France and Great Britain.

"Europe must take first place in our thoughts," he insisted. "May there be a decent life achieved and set up for Europeans." He then carefully pointed up his next remark: "Europe" is my first watchword. My second watchword is "France."

He referred to the necessity for British-French understanding and said:

"You must never allow the slightest recrimination between Great Britain and France."

Speaking at a dinner given in his honor by the municipality of Metz, Mr. Churchill said:

"Twice has the United States spent blood in coming to Europe. Twice has Great Britain and the Commonwealth done the same, and twice has our heroic ally Russia. There must be no third time."

"Europe must rise from her ruins," thundered the leader of Great Britain's opposition Conservative Party, "and spare the world a third and possibly fatal holocaust."

Mr. Churchill made his entire speech in French, an act which won the large audience.

He then went on to explain the purpose of his visit to Metz.

"When President Roosevelt and I decided in 1942, with the support of our governments and military leaders, on the liberation of north Africa, I gave Gen. (Henri) Giraud a rendezvous in Metz. Nous-voici! (Well, here we are!)" the G.B.E. Col. Coote was awarded the honor for his work in organizing the Pacific Coast Military Rangers, a voluntary unit that did patrol work along the British Columbia coast while there was a threat of invasion by the Japanese.

Mr. Churchill left for the grand Duchy of Luxembourg shortly after he had completed his speech.

Warehouses bulging with the commerce of a continent—spices, canned goods, furniture, metalware—with all the requirements of a nation. The steady flow of these goods from factory to warehouse and on to the retailer and consumer is an example of "Banking in Action."

BANK credit and essential banking services figure largely in the operations of Canadian wholesale trade. The Canadian Bank of Commerce numbers among its customers many of the most successful wholesale houses in Canada.

In addition to other services we supply working capital for the purchase of goods from the manufacturer and the expenses involved in their sale to the retailer. We also assist the wholesaler in obtaining payment for the goods by undertaking collection of drafts all over Canada and abroad. These various operations greatly facilitate the flow of trade and benefit the ultimate consumer.

If you have a business problem which entails any banking service, see our local Manager. What Banking in Action has achieved for the wholesaler, it can do for you.

THE PUBLIC GROWS ANGRY

IT IS A TRUISM TO STATE THAT ALL strikes are eventually settled. It is like-wise a fact that both parties involved in a walkout suffer during the idleness of the plants, and it should be obvious that when the tie-up occurs in a basic industry the entire economy of the country is vitally and adversely affected. Hence, as the big steel strike in Canada starts, the statement of Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, to the House of Commons last week assumes particular significance. If labor leaders would avail themselves of machinery provide for handling disputes, said Mr. Mitchell, it is doubtful whether there would be a strike in Canada today.

Some will contend that the Minister of Labor is laying the onus for disrupting production unfairly on one group when he suggests labor leaders fail to take advantage of the settlement arrangements available to them. Be that as it may, the fact still remains that some reconciliation will be made and the plants will again turn out the commodity for which there is a crying need. The distress and hardship that will fall on the idle workers in the meantime as well as the harm that will be done to the national economy are factors which will assume primary importance.

It seems unnecessary to recapitulate here the number of dependent industries which will be injured by the shortage of steel resulting from the strike. But without their output in volume the commodities which do reach the market will claim the enhanced values which arise when the demand exceeds the supply. Only by the exercise of rigid controls will they become available to the person of modest means, and the pressure against those controls will continue to mount in this country.

None but the most biased will suggest that the blame for strikes rests solely on one party to a dispute. Employees do not throw themselves out of work without some cause; nor do employers decline to yield to labor's demands without reason. Both appreciate the loss that results to both when the wheels of industry cease to turn. But the public, be it sympathetic to the one or the other, is becoming angered by the conditions which are denying it the right of access to consumer goods for which it has patiently waited. Citizens realize they are interested parties in these disputes and they resent the role as the bystanders who are injured in the contest between those directly concerned. Unless their position is given greater recognition, through settlement of grievances without strikes, the weight of their opinion will roll strongly against the forces which they believe are depriving them of the right to adequate supplies and fair prices.

LOAN PASSED EASILY

PROBABLY A FAIRLY SUBSTANTIAL number of the 155 members of the House of Representatives who opposed the loan to Britain on the final vote were motivated more by domestic political considerations than by the fantastic arguments to which a few Anglophobes had given voice in and out of Congress. Nor did Saturday's result justify the doleful predictions of those who either thought the agreement would be defeated or that, at least, it would be approved by the narrowest of margins. But it was all to the good, both from the point of view of the administration and for the encouragement it will afford the people of heroic and hard-pressed Britain, that the majority was so impressive—with 219 voting yes in a total tally of 374 out of a membership of 435.

So much has been said and written since British and United States officials signed this agreement seven months ago that further recapitulation at this late date is unnecessary. The verdict nevertheless obviously came as a great relief to the average Briton and to the government at Westminster. Nor is it likely that the strident voice of that small band of old-time economic imperialists will be heard to much effect in the general chorus of approval in which the majority of the people of the United Kingdom are joining today. During the closing hours of the debate on Capitol Hill, however, it remained for that wise old statesman, former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, from his apartment in Washington's Wardman Park, to issue a word of advice and warning to the House of Representatives. In a letter to Speaker Sam Rayburn, the experienced Tennessee diplomat said the world "faces a choice of co-operating for peace and drifting into discord and possibly another world war," and "by denying financial help to Britain, so necessary for its economic rehabilitation, we would be promoting economic war instead of economic peace... and we would be undermining the foundations of international co-operation."

As one of the prime movers in what was destined to become the United Nations Organization, as a statesman who always has contended that his country should give the world its best and most unselfish leadership in international affairs—political and economic—it was small wonder that Mr. Hull wrote as he did to Mr. Speaker Rayburn. The former Secretary of State has no axe to grind; but in the evening of his days his heartfelt desire is to see his native land live up to its full dignity and responsibility as a great nation. Saturday's vote must have pleased him immensely.

'COULDN'T BE WORSE'

ON HIS RETURN TO WASHINGTON yesterday from the meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers in Paris, Senator Vandenberg, a member of the United States delegation, asked Mr. Truman how the new O.P.A. measure stood. And the President replied in his usual forthright and unmistakable manner: "It's in terrible shape; it couldn't be worse." Which would seem to mean that if all the amendments to the administration's measure now awaiting final action by the lawmakers on Capitol Hill are permitted to remain, Mr. Truman is almost certain to exercise his veto again. To all intents and purposes the bill in its present form would remove most of the controls from basic commodities and services which the administration and the general public consider essential to prevent runaway inflation—with its corollary of ruinous deflation.

In various parts of the United States buyers' strikes already are in effect. Not even the appearance of commodities in volume such as butter—seems to be impressing the average consumer who has watched the skyrocketing of prices which has followed the spectacle of a sudden unloading of goods held for higher profits. Latest developments indicate that housewives, accustomed to a form of comparative austere living as it concerns basic foods, are taking the view that the household larder will not seriously suffer if it is subject to "short commons" a little longer. This attitude would seem to bear witness to the fact that all those telegrams sent to President Truman and members of Congress demanding the retention of O.P.A. controls were the result of public understanding of the consequences involved. The steady rise in the wholesale and retail prices of numerous items, of course, has enlightened the "little people" of the United States.

What is adding to the perplexities of the administration at Washington, moreover, is the new threat of the organized workers to demand still higher wages to offset the effects of Congressional action. And although the government at Ottawa has indicated its intention of retaining such controls as are considered essential to economic stability in this country—restoring the dollar to parity with the American dollar is one safeguard—the fact remains that further industrial dislocation over the border would mean additional complications in Canada. We have our full share already.

CUT TO TASTE

THE FORT ERIE TIMES-REVIEW, IN A recent advocacy of the re-establishment of ready-sliced loaves, points to the waste that sometimes occurs when an inexperienced cutter finishes a loaf in the familiar wedge pattern which lends itself neither to use in a sandwich nor entry into an electric toaster. The Ontario newspaper suggests that that provides sufficient argument for a return to the pre-cut product.

What the Times-Review ignores, however, is different conceptions of a sandwich held by different people. The commercially cut slice is crude to the maker of afternoon tea and bridge refreshments to whom a sandwich is a delicate morsel, wafer-thin and artistic—a food to be held between the thumb and first finger, with the little finger extended. At the other extreme, the ready-sliced article is an anaemic offering for the towhead who bursts into the kitchen after school for "a hunk of bread and jam" and saws off a slab that tests the maximum stretch of juvenile jaws.

TIMELY DECISION

LITTLE SYMPATHY WILL BE FOUND for culprits who may be prosecuted in the city police department's intensified campaign against motorists who "sneak" past street cars which are coming to a stop to discharge passengers. The fact that Chief of Police J. A. McLellan has found it necessary to warn violators of the law covering this point furnishes evidence of another of this city's too numerous traffic infractions.

The practice of trying to beat the streetcar operator is one that invites trouble. In the case of elderly people in particular, passengers are placed in jeopardy for which there is no excuse. The quicker—and harder—the police "crack-down" comes, the better.

Walter Lippmann

MR. BYRNES FROM HERE ON

THERE IS GOOD reason for thinking that as a peacemaker Secretary Byrnes may from now on be in a considerably stronger position than he has been.

When he agreed a year ago at Potsdam that peace should first be made with the German satellites, he elected to begin his peacemaking at the point where his diplomatic position was the weakest. With the exception of Italy these countries had all been liberated and then occupied by the Red Army. Their governments were under the sole control of the Soviet Union, and as a result Mr. Byrnes could exert influence but no power. It was precisely in this area, within the orbit of the Red Army, that Mr. Byrnes was bound to have the least bargaining power and M. Molotov his greatest bargaining power.

It would have been impossible to select a more unfavorable place to begin the peacemaking than that region of Europe where the Red Army is the only military power.

THE ITALIAN TREATY was not such a one-sided negotiation.

M. Molotov's bargaining position was greatest at the Yugoslav boundary. For Tito has an army whereas Italy is to be disarmed and the British-American forces are to evacuate Italy when there is a peace treaty. But since the U.S. could stay in Trieste until Molotov agreed to a peace treaty, he had to compromise. He could not get Trieste for Tito. Since, however, a disarmed and evacuated Italy could not hold Trieste, the United States, too, had to compromise, she could not award Trieste to Italy and then go home.

The compromise registers this underlying situation.

BUT WHEN THE ministers took up the Italian colonial empire the position was much stronger. The colonies are occupied not by the Red Army but by the British Army, and they are beyond the reach of Moscow because of British and American seapower. Here, consequently, M. Molotov recognized that he was not able to dictate a settlement. So he agreed to make peace with Italy without any settlement of the colonial question. Moreover, when the time comes for a colonial settlement, M. Molotov will find that his position is the reverse of what it has been inside the Russian orbit. There, when he said no, it meant no interference with what Moscow had decided to do. But in the colonial area, the shoe is on the other foot. M. Molotov will get less by saying no than by saying yes. If he says yes to an arrangement which the western powers propose, Russia will have a share in the arrangement. But if he says no, Russia will continue to exclude herself, as she is now excluded from any share in the control of these colonies.

THE PEACEMAKERS have to deal next with Germany and Austria, and there, if we measure the situation correctly, Mr. Byrnes will begin by recognizing two fundamental facts. The first is that the Austrian settlement should follow, not precede the German settlement. For Austria can become an independent state only if Germany has first been made safe for Europe. As long as Germany's place in Europe is uncertain, Austria must remain a pawn in the game of power politics.

The second fundamental fact is that western Germany—and particularly the British zone—is much the most important part of Germany. Therefore, if they can agree, Britain and France and the United States have the initiative and can act to form the political structure of Germany and its economic order. Tass, the Soviet press agency, is already complaining that "secret" negotiations about Germany are taking place, and that Russia has not been included. The reason Russia has not been included is that it is so inordinately difficult to negotiate with M. Molotov.

THE FACT THAT the Western Allies are able to negotiate without Russia proves the strength of their position. It proves that M. Molotov's "veto," his power to say no, is in fact limited, and that he has no such dominating position in Germany as he has in Eastern Europe. Thus, while the agreement of Russia is necessary to a final settlement with Germany, it is not necessary, however desirable it may be, to taking vitally important steps towards a settlement. The position in Germany is such that the initiative and the leadership can be with the Western powers.

THE DIFFICULTY of the German problem is not primarily, as many have argued, the difficulty of agreeing with the Russians. It is the difficulty of uniting the Western Allies, who control the vital areas of Germany, in a common view of the German future. If they can agree among themselves, they can take decisive steps to reconstruct Germany, and they can prove to the Russians that there is more advantage for them in participating than in staying out. The real difficulty is to unite the Western Allies. Each of them will have to modify its original position.

THIS IS THE NEXT chapter of the peacemaking. It will be a more interesting chapter than that which has dealt with Italy and the eastern satellites. It is infinitely more important. The negotiations will be about Germany, but they will determine the peace among the Allies and among the United Nations. All the minor treaties will stand or fall as the great settlement in the heart of Europe succeeds or fails.

Mr. Byrnes, who has been playing in the bush league for the past year, will now be playing in the major league. He will have his troubles. Yet his power and influence can be much greater in these great negotiations than they have been in the smaller ones.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst.

State Secretary Byrnes of the United States is home from the Big Four Foreign Ministers' adjourned meeting which laid the groundwork for the world peace conference of 21 countries opening in Paris July 29 and, to quote his restrained summary, they "made some progress on the road back to peace."

Mr. Byrnes is scheduled to give the country a report of the Foreign Ministers' parley by radio tonight, but one would expect his account should be calculated to make people grateful for part of a loaf, rather than to set bells ringing over a tremendous success by the Big Four negotiators. It's indeed a matter of much satisfaction that the conference didn't break up in failure, split as it was by the great divergence of views between Moscow and other Allies.

There could have been a knock-down fight easily enough. That there wasn't is explained in part by Mr. Byrnes' remark in Paris that the United States had accepted some compromises on European treaty proposals to avoid a "clash that nobody wants." One hastens to add this isn't meant to detract from concessions made by the other powers.

The Foreign Ministers reached a large measure of agreement on the proposed treaties for Italy, Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary and Finland. As this column previously has remarked, it strikes me as unlikely that any treaty could alter the status of the four smaller countries, since they already are under Russian domination. The position of Italy, however, is still on the knees of the Gods.

One of the outstanding features of the vital Italian treaty is the agreement to internationalize the strategic Adriatic port of Trieste. Mr. Byrnes said this could well serve as an experiment in international co-operation.

"The nations of the world," he declared, "have entered into what is a great experiment that should determine whether it is possible for the United Nations, in a situation of this kind, to reach a solution."

New Zealand became a self-governing dominion Sept. 26, 1907.

Friends Honor English Arrival

A reception was held recently at "Jesmond," home of Mrs. J. Hogg, Gordon Head, in honor of Mrs. Ronald A. Upward who has just arrived from England. Upon her arrival, Mrs. Upward was presented with a large bouquet of carnations tied with wide tulle streamers.

Games were played, the winners being Mesdames J. Ferguson, J. Green and R. A. Upward. Later, refreshments were served from a table centered with a design of pink carnations and blue iris. Mrs. J. R. Terry and Mrs. J. Grant poured tea, while Mrs. T. Simmons proposed a toast to the guest of honor, extending a hearty welcome to Victoria.

Those invited were Mesdames G. Upward, H. Upward, J. Wickes, C. Jones, W. Douglas, J. R. Terry, J. R. Terry Jr., E. King, G. Vantreight, H. G. Jones, F. Burton, E. A. Silburn, G. Williams, G. Smart Wedding Of Mid-July

Lieut. and Mrs. Howard Barnett leave Christ Church Cathedral following their marriage Saturday evening.

Large blue pottery vases filled with shasta daisies and pink and blue larkspur were placed before the Westminster Gate in Christ Church Cathedral Saturday evening for the marriage ceremony which united Shielagh Cecily Graves, only daughter of Sandham Graves, 170 Bushby Street, and the late Mrs. Jessie Elizabeth Graves, and Lieut. Howard Byron Barnett, R.C.N. (R.), son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Barnett, Cedar Hill Road, Bishop H. E. Sexton read the service.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was veiled in traditional ivory satin, the mesh yoke styled with a high neckline and the long, fitted sleeves pointed over the hands. Her filmy net veil cascaded to the end of the gown's full court train from a Mary Stuart headdress trimmed with fly of the valley. The bridal bouquet was a shower of pink roses, blue delphiniums and stephanotis tied with blue and white streamers and the groom's gift of a blue and gold locket was worn by the bride.

Mrs. Henri Nordahl of Portland, as matron of honor, and Miss Elaine Walsh of Berkeley, as bridesmaid, attended their cousin, wearing identical frocks with silk brocade bodices and full net skirts of pink and blue respectively. Their matching chapel veils were caught to the head with wreaths of flowers and they carried sheath bouquets of pink carnations, sweet peas and delphiniums.

Groomsman was Lieut. Donald Morrison, R.C.N. (R.), and ushering were John Beckwith and John Kyle.

A reception for over 100 guests was held at the home of the bride, where her aunt, Mrs. F. Knight, and Mrs. Barnett, mother of the groom, assisted in receiving. Premier and Mrs. John Hart and Mayor and Mrs. P. E. George were among those present and Dr. J. A. Pearce proposed the bride's health.

Lieut. and Mrs. Barnett will leave shortly to make their future home in Toronto, following a honeymoon on the mainland. Taking leave of the guests, the bride wore a dressmaker suit of storm-grey flannel, white eyelet blouse and white calot trimmed with forget-me-nots and short veiling. A powder blue wool topcoat, white accessories and orchid corsage bouquet completed the ensemble.

The New Sleeves are TREMENDOUS!

Never were furs so smart as NOW, and we mean now at Scurrahs. The very, very new Sleeves are simply tremendous, not only in their stunning generous width but in the way they add such inimitable swank to the whole ensemble. Lincoln Lamb, Muskrat, Russian Squirrel, "Laska" Seal, Persian Paw are among the furs shown in the new models and, of course, there are the popular Tuxedo styles in both full and three-quarter-length coats. It would be wise to select now and allow us to store without charge until you want to take proud possession.

Red Cross Told Diseases Rampant

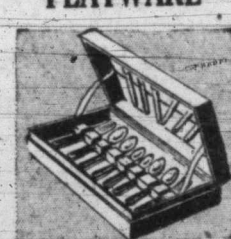

OXFORD, Eng. (AP) — Dr. Ernest L. Stebbins, American public health authority, told International Red Cross officials Saturday that tuberculosis and venereal diseases have reached epidemic proportions in Europe. He said that in a two-month tour of 11 European nations he found the worst conditions in Poland, with the tuberculosis mortality rate four to five times greater than it was before the war.

Designers Preview Fall Fashions

NEW YORK (AP)—For fall and winter 1946-47 New York designers have turned out a brilliant and wearable collection of fashions almost entirely free from any hint of French influence.

There are none of the drooping, rounded shoulders, voluminous skirts and padded hips typical of most recent French styles. Instead, practically all New York houses are showing longer jackets, and the girl with crisp, clean, simplified lines; wide, square shoulders, nipped-in waists and slim skirts.

Only in evening gowns, of which there are many in the new lines, do skirts go bouffant. In general, clothes for fall will have longer skirts, suits will have longer jackets, and the girl with the hand-span waistline will shine in the new fashions.

The small, accentuated midriff is a feature of nearly all collections, sometimes emphasized by wide corset belts of leather or fabric, sometimes by boned bodices in evening gowns. Jackets are nipped in sharply at the waistline, many have flaring fishtail peplums or flared tunics, all are wide-shouldered and crisply tailored.

In many collections there is a new air of lavishness and formality, evidenced by the greatly increased number and elaborateness of dinner and evening clothes. The latter fall into two categories, the wicked sheath with low décolletage and slit skirt of the Irene Castle era, and the wide-skirted, small waisted styles reminiscent of civil war fashions. Some designers even show hoop skirts for the most formal evening wear, and fabrics are rich and beautiful. Stiff brocades, metal-lames, rustling taffetas and heavy slipper satins are among the popular formal fabrics.

Masterpieces In Silk Dress Prints

Brook Cadwallader is an American, born in Manila and educated in Massachusetts and Paris. What he puts above a signature written into the selvage of a piece of fabric, sold as yard goods over the counter or on order to exclusive designers, is a masterpiece of textile design.

Let's Eat!
With New Vegetables—Specific vegetable combinations are endless in variety, but here are a few suggestions: spinach, new potatoes in their skins, spiced onions and whole baby beets; baked stuffed potatoes, broiled tomato, panned beans, summer squash; creamed new potatoes and cucumbers, glazed carrot sticks, sliced tomatoes on lettuce.

Speaking of Fish—Any sauce for fish can be made more palatable attractive if it contains pieces of ripe olives. The mellow flavor of the olives blends perfectly with that of the fish.

Late Snacks—Why don't you, if you're a young and budding cook, bolster your culinary reputation by varying those eggs once in a while? For instance, add cut-up chives or a little grated onion and toast English muffins to go with them.

Holiday Thought—Give the children molasses milk often in summer, over cereal or as a drink. It saves the sugar bowl, they love it, and best of all it's good for them, molasses being very high in iron. Four tablespoons to a quart of milk is the proportion to use.

Chit-Chat—A little lemon juice or vinegar adds a pleasantly tart note to boiled carrots, beets or turnips. Don't throw away leftover cooked fish, it may be flaked and used in salads, fish cakes or croquettes. When you store cream or cottage cheese in the refrigerator be sure it's well wrapped or covered for it takes on other odors easily.

Engagements

Announcements to appear under this heading will be accepted at the Times Advertising Department. Minimum charge $1.50 for 10 lines, and 15c for each additional line.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. L. MacDowell, Crofton, V.I., announce the engagement of their second daughter, Doreen MacDowell, R.N., to John George Milmore, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Milmore of Chemainus. The marriage will take place on Aug. 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Restell of 1030 Pembroke Street announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Mavis Patricia, to Lorne Ingram Dallin, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Dallin, Regina Avenue, the marriage to take place at Emmanuel Baptist Church on Saturday, Aug. 10, at 8 p.m.

The engagement is announced of Vivienne Patricia, younger daughter of Mrs. F. S. Turner, "Cheamside," Mill Bay, and the late Hubert Yates of Cheam, England, to Mr. Sidney Pott, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Pott, Lily Road, Victoria. The wedding to take place quietly at the church of St. Martin-in-the-Field on Aug. 31.

What's New Around the Home

Good to Know—Spare your hands and shine your windows at the same time by adding witch hazel to the washing water, about ½ cup of witch hazel to each quart of warm water.

Wool-Gathering Teapot—Here's a new use for that ancient teapot that anguishes unwanted on a dusty shelf. Polish it up. Drop your ball of knitting wool inside and pull the end of the wool out through the spout.

For Summer Shoes—To expedite the chore of keeping white shoes in pristine freshness, coat the sole edges with colorless liquid nail polish to prevent the cleaner or dressing from soaking into the leather. If the protective covering is applied before the first wearing, the original sole wall stain is not only preserved but is prevented from rubbing off against the snowy top of its mate.

Lipstick Trouble?—To remove lipstick from sheets, try hot sudsy water. If this doesn't work use bleach with hydrogen peroxide or rub lard in stain till soft, then scrape off grease and wash in hot suds.

Dorothy Dix

DIVIDED DUTY
Dear Miss Dix: I am a young man, engaged to a young woman with whom I am deeply in love, but here is my problem: My parents have recently suffered financial reverses. At my present salary I can either support the girl I wish to marry, or help support my parents.

Is it my duty to give up my happiness for many years, or perhaps forever, since I feel I have no right to ask the girl to wait for me? Or should I marry the girl regardless of my parents' condition? My fiancée has a fine position, but does not want to work after marriage.

UNHAPPY.
Answer: There is no question harder to decide than what should be done in this case of divided duty, and my heart aches for you in your dilemma, torn between your obligation to your parents and the girl you love. You cannot turn your back upon your father and mother and leave them helpless. You cannot ask the girl you love to waste her youth and beauty in waiting for you.

WORK FOR PARENTS
But is there not a common-sense solution to your problem? Young people always exaggerate the age and helplessness of their parents. Also, parents give up much too soon and settle themselves down on their children to be supported.

Perhaps there is something that your father and mother can do that will bring in a few dollars a month, and they will certainly be far happier feeling that they are helping to support themselves than they will knowing themselves to be a burden upon you and a bar between you and your happiness.

If the girl really loves you, she will be willing to keep on with her job after marriage, as thousands upon thousands of young wives do. She is a poor sport if she isn't willing to do her part to help you.

Dear Miss Dix: I married a widower with four small children. They adore me and I love them as if they were my very own. My husband treats me very cruelly. He has a terrible temper, flies into rages and orders me out of the house. I would leave him, but how can I leave the helpless little children who would have nobody to care for them if I went?

I work very hard and do all that I can to make my husband and his children comfortable, but he seems to have to come to hate me and I am so upset that I am verging on a nervous breakdown. Please tell me what to do? Should I go on living with a man who does not want me in order to take care of his children. MRS. B.D.

Answer: I do not see that you are called upon to make a martyr of yourself for your stepchildren. Of course, it is easy to see how the plight of these poor little children appeals to all that is fine and beautiful and motherly in you; and how difficult you find it to make up your mind to desert them in their need, but if you have the spunk to call your husband's bluff I do not think you will be parted from your babies long.

Men who go into violent rages and who abuse their wives and order them out of the house are just windbags who are venting their fury on those whom they believe helpless to strike back. They really do not mean what they say.

In your case your husband thinks that you will stay on because of your devotion to the children. Stiffen up your backbone and the next time he tells you to leave, give him the surprise of his life and go. When he hears the children crying and there is nothing to eat in the house and everything is at sixes and sevens, he will come after you and beg you on his knees to return to him.

And when you go back to him make him realize that you are only going to stay with him as long as he gives you decent treatment. If he does not mend his ways, leave him and don't go back. There is no reason that you should make a living sacrifice of yourself for his children.

Vera Mills Bride Of Gordon Hayward

The marriage of Vera Alice, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Mills, 621 Hillside Avenue, and Gordon Hayward, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hayward, 916 Cloverdale Avenue, was solemnized Friday evening at the home of Rev. A. E. Whitehouse.

Given away by her father, the petite bride wore a frock of white tulle and silk net with fitted bodice sweetheart neckline and elbow-length lace gloves. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a Mary Stuart headdress and she carried a bouquet of red and white carnations and sweet peas.

Attending the bride was Marjorie June Wilson, frocked in powder blue silk jersey with matching picture hat and bouquet of pink and white carnations and sweet peas. Dave Rankin supported the groom.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Haggart, 2314 Cook Street, where the guests were received by mothers of the bridal couple. Dr. Raymond Foxgord proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon to White Rock, B.C., the bride wore a powder blue, dressmaker suit with white topcoat, white accessories and corsage bouquet of rosebuds.

Denies City Laws Halt Home Building

Ald. Edward Williams, who has been a building contractor for many years, today challenged statements made at a Chamber of Commerce meeting—that an passing of city building regulations would in any way curtail house-building programs within the city.

Ald. Williams pointed out that the regulation governing plumbing vents and soil pipe was altered almost a year ago to permit contractors to use substitute types of vents and pipe when cast iron was not available.

"So far as I am aware it is not the building regulations which are holding up house-building, but the shortage of materials. Altering our by-laws will not make any more materials available," he commented.

He indicated he would want detailed knowledge of the changes wanted with proof that a change in the by-law would ease the situation before he would support any alterations or relaxation.

He said that he had heard of some builders who wanted permission to put up frame buildings in the No. 1 fire zones, where fireproof buildings are required, but he said he would oppose any move in this direction also.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

STREET QUIETER THAN BUSY OFFICE

Most people think a busy street is a pretty noisy place. Yet acoustical experts know that a main street is often quieter than the average office. To quiet distracting noise, thousands of modern offices are today treated with Johns-Manville Sound Control materials. You see, these materials absorb noise like a sponge.

In one office, for example, J-M Acoustical treatment reduced errors up to 42 per cent—increased office output more than 19 per cent.

Not only in offices, but in schools, hospitals and public buildings J-M Sound Control materials help to build up efficiency and health by cutting down distracting noises. If you have a noise problem write for free J-M Sound Control booklet, Canadian Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto, AD. 9431.

Unrest Brewing In Cook Islands Against Rule By New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuter)—Unrest is brewing in the Cook Islands, a group scattered over an ocean area of some 850,000 square miles whose seat of administration at Rarotonga is more than 1,600 miles from Auckland.

Islanders complain that 46 years of New Zealand administration have produced inefficient economic, political and cultural developments.

Introduction of trade union membership cards and adoption of "strong-arm" methods by natives are outward signs of this uneasiness.

One main cause for discontent is that islanders have only a minority representation on the island councils which govern them.

Apart from the question of political franchise, there are complaints of official misunderstanding of native psychology. One example is a sanatorium built last year on sacred ground.

Superstitious natives won't have anything to do with it. Other charges against the present administration:

1. Insufficient money is being spent on improving housing conditions and draining swamp lands.

2. The present education system on the islands end at about the level reached in most countries by 10-year-olds. The few children who get further education do so because their parents can afford to send them to New Zealand.

European residents say a definite antagonism towards Europeans is developing among the natives.

Air Shaft Damaged In Hotel Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—An air shaft in the new Hotel Vancouver was damaged slightly by fire Sunday. Firemen report the blaze apparently was started by someone dropping a lighted cigarette butt down the shaft.

Centuries before Columbus discovered the New World, people living in Mexico enjoyed a civilization of high culture.

FORMER ATHLETE PRESENTED WITH D.S.M.—PO. Elwyn Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Perkins, 350 Gorge Road W., is shown receiving the Distinguished Service Medal from Rear-Admiral C. R. H. Taylor, C.B.E., commanding officer Atlantic coast. Perkins, who served aboard H.M.C.S. St. Laurent when she sank a U-boat, was honored "for devotion to and outstanding performance of duty during the Battle of the Atlantic." Before enlisting in the Canadian Navy he was employed by the C.N.R. Telegraphs and was well known as a bicycle racer and softball player.

Nazis At War's End Developing Plane Designed To Hit New York

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hitler's scientists were at work on a supersonic bomber designed to bombard New York, the United States Army Air Forces disclosed Sunday. It was but one item on a terror list of 135 secret weapons the Nazis were striving to perfect or improve at the war's end.

Col. D. L. Putt, deputy chief of the air materiel command's technical intelligence division, said the bomber was expected to reach 154 miles above the earth. He expressed belief that "time was the only obstacle" to its completion.

Col. Putt drafted the official report on the Nazis' development of guided missiles and other ultra-modern weapons. One giant long-range winged rocket, which was in the design stage, was to carry smaller rockets. These were to take off on their own at a specific point, attain speeds up to 5,800 miles an hour, and finish their trajectories in a long glide. Range of this weapon was calculated at 3,000 miles, sufficient to span the Atlantic.

Other weapons included rockets with which the Nazis hoped to break up the Allied bomber formations which leveled German cities.

The German missiles "used every known type of remote control and fusing means, including radio control, wire control, radar CW (continuous wave), acoustics, infra-red, light beams and magnetics. In similar fashion all methods of employing jet propulsion for subsonic and supersonic speeds were being fully exploited."

FAR AHEAD ON JET

Col. Putt said the Germans were far ahead in the development of the ram jet engine, which is only now being put to use by the U.S. army and navy air forces.

Specific secret weapons listed by Col. Putt included these types: Enzian—Winged flak rocket, 17 feet long, carrying 990 pounds of explosive and controlled by radio. Intended for use against heavy bomber formations.

X-4 Rhursthall—Six-foot rocket bomb launched from fighter aircraft and controlled from the fighter through two four-mile lengths of wire.

Fritz G—Armor-piercing, radio-controlled bomb used by Germans against Allied ships at the Salerno landing.

HS 117—"Butterfly" rocket-propelled, radio-controlled missiles to be launched against bomber formations at 560 miles an hour. They were in large-scale production in January last year at a Nordhausen underground factory.

Rheintochter—One of the latest anti-aircraft missiles, rocket-propelled to 48,000 feet altitude at 1,100 miles an hour, carrying 330 pounds of explosive.

Langford Plans Country Fair

LANGFORD—Fat pumpkins and beans and cobs of corn will vie for honors at the annual Langford Country Fair, to be held at Goldstream August 7 in the old picnic grounds on the Trail Riders' Ranch.

Prize specimens from the vegetable gardens for miles around will be brought to the fair along with home canning and home cooking exhibits. There will be displays of cut flowers.

Among the feature attractions of the day will be a gold rush, pony rides, midway and displays by the B.C. Electric Railway Co. and the Pacific Coast Fire Equipment Co. A barn dance will be held in the remodeled and re-floored barn, which is fitted with loudspeakers.

The committee in charge is planning to make the fair an annual event in aid of Langford Memorial Community and Recreational Centre, a tribute to men who died in service during the war.

Prepares Efficiency Plan For City Departments

Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the efficiency survey committee, said today he is preparing a long-range program for the organization of the City Hall departments, which will be presented to a committee meeting Tuesday and if approved by the committee, presented to next Monday's City Council meeting.

At the same time he is preparing a draft agreement which can be used to establish employer-employee relations between the staff and the municipal corporation, he indicated, which would assist in bridging the period of transition between the present staff organization and the new one.

He indicated the new organization plan might temporarily disrupt several departments before it could be put into full operation.

tigers, and a host of sensational new features, backed by scores upon scores of internationally famous circus stars, the Clyde Beatty Circus will give performances at 2.30 and 8 p.m., with doors opening at 1.30 and 7 Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Little business grows big by little improvements—and much planning. The makers of woolen goods used to say of their product: "The less it shrinks, the more we'll expand." And now comes news that a new process is being developed to make woollens 90% to 95% unshrinkable.

Here's yet another example of that improvement which constitutes progress . . . yet another step forward in the progressive realization of the aims of Canada's Textile industry . . . which includes many small enterprises as well as the large, nationally known organizations . . . more than 1900 plants employing about 160,000 Canadians. It's an example chosen at random, but typical of the progressive improvements in Canadian enterprise.

2 Escapees Recaptured
WINNIPEG (CP) — Two 18-year-old airmen stationed at the Portage la Prairie—manning depot, who escaped from the Dryden, Ont., jail-Friday night, were recaptured at International Falls, Minn., during the week-end, it was reported here today. The two men are Charles De-guise, Montreal, and Raymond Daniel Marsh, Vancouver. They were arrested at Dryden Wednesday and sentenced to one year in jail for car theft.

Blue Line Makes New Transportation Offer To Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Blue Line Transit Co. of Victoria is making renewed efforts to obtain a transport license here.

Civic officials reported at the week-end that officials of the company had offered an amended application and asked that a plebiscite be taken to decide the issue.

Recently an application by the Blue Line Company to run buses or Vancouver streets was rejected by the city council.

H. L. Sangster, managing director, in a letter to the mayor and council here, criticized the civic transportation committee's decision to recommend acceptance of the B.C. Electric Railway Company's proposals as "a complete failure to safeguard the electorate's interests."

Offering to put up the money to purchase the B.C.E.R. street-car and bus operations in return for a 20-year franchise, Blue Line officials guaranteed to remove all rails and overhead wires within two years.

Estimating the initial cost of starting operations here at $10,000,000, the company undertook to sell back to the city in five years for 75 per cent, in 15 years for 25 per cent or after 20 years for 10 per cent.

U.S. Troops Kill Two Yugoslavians

GORIZIA, Italy (AP) — The United States 88th Division today announced an American Army patrol killed two Yugoslav soldiers in skirmishes Friday after a Yugoslav patrol had opened fire when caught west of the Morgan Line.

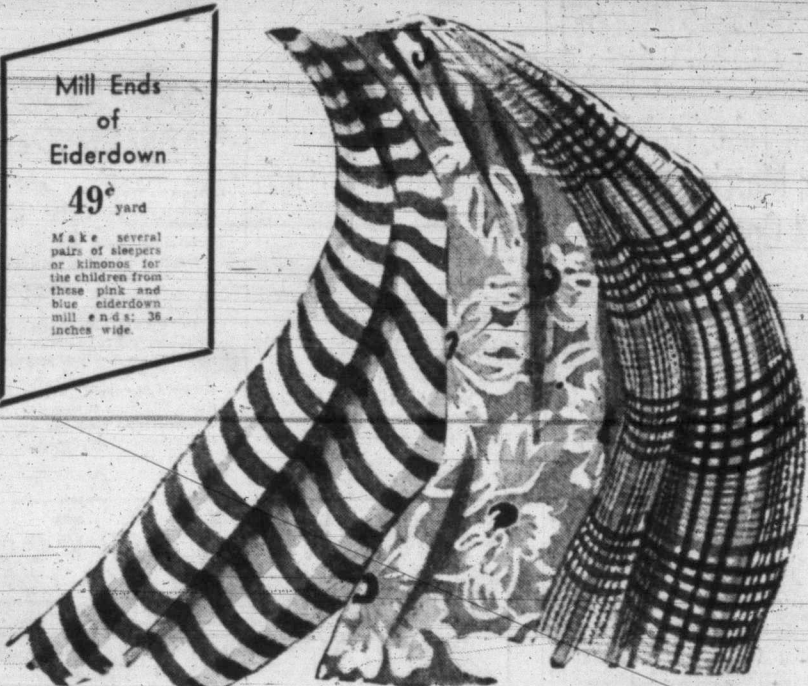

The line divides the British-U.S. zone from the Yugoslav zone of occupation in disputed Venezia Giulia.

American troops in the zone were ordered on the alert.

TORONTO (CP)—Marvin H. (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., amateur golf champion of the United States during the war, has entered the Canadian amateur at Edmonton July 28 to Aug. 3, the Royal Canadian Golf Association announced today.

Twice winner of the U.S. title, Ward will head a contingent of top flight American amateurs including Frank Stranahan of Toledo and Ed Meister of Cleveland in play over the testing, 6,750-yard course of Edmonton's Mayfair Golf and Country Club.

Garnet In Smart Mound Stand As V.M.D. Wins 8-3

With Toad Garnet hurling shutout ball for eight innings, league-leading V.M.D. turned back the second-place Canadian Legion 8 to 3 in Sunday's city league ball game at Athletic Park. Garnet, who has proved the handy man of the shipyard this season, struck out 10 and walked two.

Tonight's game, starting at 7, will see the Eagles-battle-the Navy.

V.M.D. moved into an early lead with one run in the third inning and added another single in the fourth. In the fifth out-fielder Maurice Duffy clouted an inside the park home run to deep right field. Successive errors by Prior and Perkins allowed Walker to cross the plate with the second run.

Sixth inning saw the leaders wind up their scoring with triples by Gar Taylor and Duffy and a double by Walker featuring the scoring.

Garnet was robbed of his shut-out in the ninth when an error by Gibbons at third started the Legion on their three-run rally. Short score follows: R H E V.M.D. 8 3 3 Canadian Legion 3 6 6 Batteries—Garnet and Sutherland; Prior and Perkins.

Oakland, Seals In Double Victories

It takes more than a 750-average these days to remain at the top of Pacific Coast League baseball.

The Oakland Oaks learned this during last week's series with Seattle, which they won six games to two. The San Francisco Seals swept along at 1,000 clip, taking their series with San Diego 7 to 0 and recapturing from Oakland the league leadership which they had relinquished in May.

The Seals clung to their precarious one-half game lead today by virtue of a double win over the Padres Sunday, 5 to 2 and 5 to 1, while the Oaks took a doubleheader with Seattle, 7 to 2 and 3 to 2.

At Los Angeles, the Angels and Hollywood split their double bill. Hollywood won the first game 4 to 1 and the Angels the nightcap 2 to 1.

Sacramento and Portland battled it out for 11 innings before their 7 to 7 first game stalemate was called on account of rain.

'Y' Athletes In Smart Showing At Vancouver

Victoria's Flying "Y" swimming and track and field teams, in Vancouver in good strength over the week-end, brought home a large helping of the prizes in the mainland city's Diamond Jubilee celebrations invitation gala and Caledonia games.

In the two-day swimming meet in outdoor Kitsilano pool, Coach Archie McKinnon's water churningers splashed their way to 12 first prizes, 10 seconds and four thirds. They scored five firsts, six seconds and two thirds on Saturday.

Swimmers who scored in the money Saturday were Joan Morgan, Ina Salmon, Aileen Smyth, Bill Turkington, Peter Salmon, Eric Jubb, Ray Jubb, Jack Creedon, Jean Mills, Myfanwy Nixon, Audrey Schofield, Ron Neilson, Marg Freeman. Up-and-coming juvenile Ray Jubb added more laurels to his record, including two first-place victories.

Spike Dalziel, fleet-footed sprinter and jumper of the "Y" junior team, was the big name of the local contingent taking part in the Caledonia games. He topped aggregate honors in the junior department by scoring two firsts, running broad jump and high jump, a second in the 100-yard dash and third in the 12-pound shotput.

SALMOND WINS
Cliff Salmon came through to breast the tape first in the 880 yards men's event. He finished third in the mile open. Elaine Silburn, western Canada high jump champion, took first in her specialty and was second in the broad jump.

Harry Mitchell scored two running thirds, 100-yard senior men and 220 yards senior open. Big Bill Thompson, working in the field, placed second tossing the cabre, was third in the 30-pound hammer-throwing event. Frank Collier was third in the 35-pound weight-tossing. J. C. Isherwood placed third in the 440-yard senior open. The senior "Y" relay team placed second in the 400 dash.

Caldwell Again Tops In Langford Races

Top prize money again went to Digby Caldwell at the Langford Speedway car races Saturday night. The local boy sailed home first in the 20-lap main event and the first heat race although he was beaten by Jerry Vantreight in the helmet dash.

Nice driving was seen throughout the program and there were no accidents despite a spin or two.

Vantreight who is sitting in the second best position among Victoria drivers, was next to Caldwell in the main event while Pike Green, also Victoria, was third. Claude Walling, Portland, was next to get the checkered flag. McMurtry, top U.C. contender, had engine trouble during the evening and was forced to the pits on the third lap.

The second heat race saw Green build up a nice lead only to spin out allowing Jack Spaulding, Vancouver, to move into the top spot which he held.

McMurtry won the third heat race and Green was second.

Two-match races saw Green beat Walling in a smart show of driving, and Caldwell nose out McMurtry.

The Model T race was won by Tom Williamson at the throttle of Hill's U-Drive entry.

Hollywood Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For years movie minds have clung to the theory that the public shouldn't know how it is being tricked on the film screen. Actor Lee Bowman is the latest to support this contention.

"I found Bowman dubbing a song on the 'Smash-up' set. Even though he was a crooner in his native Cincinnati, he was mouthing the words while somebody else's voice was recorded on the sound track. I asked if he didn't object to having people know his movie singing voice isn't his own."

"I don't mind myself," he said, "but I know Columbia isn't anxious to have the public know that Rita Hayworth's songs aren't sung by Rita."

Along the same line, Lee said it is unwise to tell movie goers which actors wear wigs, puffy noses, corsets, pads—(past I know one well-known actor whose prominent ears are held back by a string behind his head.)

It's reported the Theatre Guild would like to stage M.G.M.'s musical remake of "Ah, Wilderness" with the film cast. But not even the Guild could afford to pay the salaries of Mickey Rooney, Walter Huston, Frank Morgan, Gloria Dehaven, and company, for a play. Anne Jeffreys had to pass up an offer for training at the Met Opera because of picture work. Too bad, because her ambition is to own a continental convertible and sing at the Met.

Frill Wardrobe For Maureen O'Hara

Maureen O'Hara wears an enchanting wardrobe of appealing frilly gear in her latest 20th Century-Fox picture, "Sentimental Journey," which opens today at the Atlas Theatre, co-starring John Payne and William Bendix.

Oriental 'Jive' Heard In Rio Film

Oriental "jive" music is heard on the screen for the first time in Columbia Pictures' Technicolor fantasy of old Baghdad, "A Thousand and One Nights," with Cornel Wilde, Evelyn Keyes, Phil Silvers and Adele Jergens at the Royal Theatre.

Beery, O'Brien Co-star At Capitol

Gravel-voiced Marjorie Main, noted M-G-M comedienne, is currently winning more guffaws in "Bad Bascomb," in which she appears on the Capitol screen in support of Wallace Beery and Margaret O'Brien.

Snoopy Squirrel In 'Enchanted Forest'

DOMINION THEATRE

All the danger and excitement inherent in a life of reckless and unscrupulous high-living is graphically portrayed in "Her Kind of Man," Warner Bros.' new film drama currently playing at the Dominion Theatre.

To Be Dismissed From The Service

LONDON (CP)—Capt. Harold Francis Dixon of Vancouver, found guilty by a general court-martial in Amsterdam last May of giving false evidence to an earlier Amsterdam court-martial, has been sentenced to be dismissed from the service, Canadian military headquarters announced today.
Tried on five charges, Dixon was found guilty of four by the court, but only three were confirmed by military authorities. At the first court-martial last March, Dixon, a member of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, faced charges of improperly disposing of dealing in army property. Statements he made under oath at the hearing were the subject of the second court-martial.
